As we soon begin another calendar season, we are reminded that for over half of the year we have remained at home, following social distancing guidelines. We continue to hold on to hope that we will soon go back to normalcy, or to how things used to be, while at the same time surprising ourselves with our resilience and discovering new ways of keeping a sense of community. I truly miss being out in the community with you. I would like to let you know that you are not alone, we are always here to help. I will be introducing new, adapted activities and I encourage you all to participate as we bring back a sense of togetherness during these uncertain times.

Community Activity: Submit your favorite food recipe

Pick a dish that's special to you. Something that deserves to be shared with the world and with your community. Submit your favorite family recipe to be included in our Community HousingWorks Community cookbook. This cookbook is being curated as a gift for our CEO Sue Reynolds, to thank her as she retires. Please fill out the areas below and return to Adriana at ahernandez@chworks.org by Monday, September 14.

Hello Families,

We know how important your child's education is and we understand the challenges of distance learning. Even though our centers remain close, we would like to offer you our support. Our new extended learning program will connect students, families and schools as we encourage an empower our families. With our support we hope to build trusting collaborative relationships for academic achievement.

We also understand some of the pressures distance learning has on our students. Our program will be adaptive to each individual needs and in the areas of support. We will also focus on community building as these relationships have proven to be helpful for our student's learning esteem.
